IT WAS WINE, NOT VINEGAR, AND CHARLES P. MARANO PLEADS GUILTY

Long Fight Ends in County Court—Marano is Fined $200 and Given Thirty Days' Freedom in Which to Raise the Money.

County court which went into recess Wednesday morning until 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon was convened at 2:50 o'clock and at that time District Attorney Traver moved the trial of the case of The People vs. Charles P. Marano, indicted by the grand jury for an infringement of the "dry" law. Marano was charged with a sale of some of the famous Marano "vinegar-wine" which has been before the courts for a number of years. When Charles Marano's father died in southern Ulster county, there was in his cellar a number of barrels of Italian grape wine. By some it was claimed to be wine and by others it was claimed to be vinegar. However, Marano, it is alleged, attempted to sell some of the liquid. The liquid was seized and several barrels were brought to the court house by the sheriff and placed in the county "bar-room" for safe keeping. The liquid began to leak and the court house was perfumed with an odor of wine-vinegar until the sheriff sorted out the leaky keg and disposed of it.

Marano had entered a plea of not guilty and the case was to be tried at this term of court. Wednesday afternoon when court was convened and the case moved for trial, Marano through his attorney, William D. Brinnier, changed his plea to guilty to the crime charged and asked that if a fine was imposed he be given a chance to secure the money as he did not have at the present time funds to meet a fine. Mr. Brinnier asked that Marano be not confined to the county jail through failure to pay the fine until he had been given time to secure the money.

Marano, who is at present living in New Jersey, was fined $200 or, through default of the fine, 100 days in the county jail. However, the jail sentence was deferred for thirty days and the bond continued for that time. Failure to pay the fine by May 18, will result in Marano being placed in the county jail for 100 days.

As District Attorney Traver had expected to begin the trial of Marano Wednesday afternoon no other case was ready for trial although all of the jurors were present and ready for work. Judge Fowler excused the jurors until today at 10 o'clock.

TWO SENTENCES ARE SUSPENDED

Bigamist Must Live With First Wife and Keep Away From Second—Forger Must Make Restitution and Report Progress—Bannas Pleads Guilty.

Clinton R. Decker, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of bigamy, and Nelson Held, indicted on a charge of forging numerous small checks which were cashed about town, were sentenced in county court this morning. Decker was handed out a sentence of one year and three months to three years in the Clinton state prison at Dannemora, but the execution of sentence was suspended provided that he takes care of wife number one and her child. She is willing to go back and live with Decker. The other condition was that Decker keep strictly away from wife number two, who does not want anything to do with him. He is to report at least once a month to Probation Officer Service for a period of three years and Mrs. Decker is also to report how she is being provided for.

Nelson Held promised to make restitution and the imposition of sentence was deferred until the June term of county court, when Nelson will be required to appear before the court and report how he is progressing with the payment of his bills. He was put on parole in the meantime with instructions to get a job and start making good.

The imposition of sentence in the case of The People vs. John Brazo was deferred until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Benjamin Rowe, attorney for Nick Bannas of Saugerties, who was indicted for a violation of subdivision 2, section 1212 of the penal law, the sale of intoxicating liquors, stated that his client wanted to change his plea to guilty. Nick was handed out a choice of a $200 fine or spending a day in jail for each $3 of the fine.

As District Attorney Traver had expected until the last minute Wednesday to try the Morano case, which it was expected would take at least two days, Mr. Rowe was not notified of the moving of the Bannas case until too late Wednesday to notify the court of a change in plea to guilty. Thus the jurors were brought back today to try the Bannas case and the change in plea again left the court without work. The Morano case was expected to go to trial until a few minutes before it was moved by Mr. Traver.

Elting Guest of Honor at Luncheon of Ulster County Men in New York

Given by Cornelius J. Curtin—Edmund W. Wakelee Recalls How Present Port Collector Started Training With Broom and Duster in Bernard's Office.

The Hon. Philip Elting, collector of the port of New York, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Cornelius J. Curtin, honorary president of the Ulster County Society, in one of the spacious private dining rooms of the Machinery Club at 50 Church street, New York, on Wednesday at noon. Expressions of regret in being unable to be present were received from Edward M. Morgan, postmaster of New York; Colonel D. I. McKay, former police commissioner of New York, and Martin Cantline, manager of the DuPont Company, saying among other things that "I am surely losing out with myself in being able to attend the luncheon tendered by Mr. Curtin to Ulster's resourceful strong man, the Hon. Philip Elting."

In a short speech of welcome to the collector and the guests, Mr. Curtin stated it gave him great honor to be the means of bringing together the sturdy sons of old Ulster, not only to do honor to Mr. Elting but to Ulster county as well, and the speaker doubted if there was a county anywhere whose sons were more loyal than were the men from Ulster.

He then introduced Mr. Elting who briefly reviewed the achievements of the men from Ulster, telling how Kingston, then Wiltwyck, was the third settlement of the great Empire State, following New York (Amsterdam) and Albany (Fort Orange). Mr. Elting reminisced a bit by describing how he took up the study of law in the office of the late Reuben Bernard in Kingston, and concluded his remarks by saying that of all the dinners and luncheons he has ever attended there was none that brought him more real happiness and enjoyment than to be surrounded as he was today with so many men from Old Ulster who are making their way in New York with great credit to themselves and honor to the old county.

Mr. Elting was followed by the Hon. Edmund W. Wakelee. "Well, do I remember," said the senator, "when you, Phil Elting, came to the office of the late Mr. Bernard to study law. Did you not have to take my place in sweeping out and dusting off the books and desks and running the errands. And was I not mighty careful to break you in, because, as you later learned, Mr. Bernard was a careful man and required things done just so? And how happy I was when you became proficient with the broom and duster. Well," said the senator, "a long time has passed since that time, and today we find you with us in New York holding down the biggest political job of the nation, which is all the more evidence that you must have performed your other tasks in a painstaking, careful and honorable manner."

Speeches were also made by John D. Schoonmaker, Macdonald DeWitt and William T. Holt.

The following were Mr. Curtin's guests at the luncheon: Jacob Livingston, Edward L. Seaman, Arthur Conners, George S. Clay, Edward A. Kelly, Edwin W. Harlow, William T. Holt, Macdonald DeWitt, John M. Cashin, William Winter, Hon. Edmund W. Wakelee, M. F. Fraum, William McKeon, William Golden, Edward J. Fitzpatrick, William Harwood, John D. Schoonmaker, Robert Rodie and Joseph Drake.

TEACHERS' SALARY DISCUSSION APR. 27

Kiwanis Club Names Committee to Appear at Open Discussion Before Board of Education April 27.

The Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley brought the matter of school teachers' salaries to the attention of the Kiwanis Club as a prelude to his talk on "Courtesy," he having courteously consented to make this contribution to Kiwanis' "Courtesy Week." Following the example of the Rotary Club on Wednesday, Kiwanis named a committee of seven to appear before the board of education the evening of April 27 to discuss the teachers' salary question. The chamber of commerce at a special meeting tonight is expected to take similar action.

Dr. Seeley said there were 58 teachers here of 15 years or more service now receiving approximately $1,000 yearly in the grade schools and $1,175 in the high school who desired to receive the eight annual increments provided under the Lockwood Law, enacted in 1920. These teachers must soon sign or reject contracts for the coming year. Dr. Seeley said he had found after careful inquiry that taxpayers generally were of the opinion that these increments should be granted, making the salaries about $1,100. That would result in half pay upon retirement of about $700 yearly.

Dr. Seeley described courtesy as the greatest asset in business aside from its ethical and civilizing advantages and pointed out numerous instances to show that the man with the smile and the spirit of gracious service behind it invariably came out better than the grouchy.

THIS ISN'T THE LATEST SPRING

Snow Fell Wednesday Night But It Also Showed Year Ago—Easter Came Too Early for Style or Comfort.

There was a wide variety of weather in this vicinity during the past twenty-four hours varying from clear sunny weather to rain and finally during the evening snow and sleet. However, the snow and sleet met with a warm reception and melted as fast as it fell. Nevertheless, it snowed.

For those who bemoan the lateness of spring and earnestly tell how this is "the latest spring in the history of man," it might be interesting to know that one year ago tomorrow a snow storm visited Kingston. The snow fell thick and fast for several minutes and in the mountains it was sufficient density to cause automobiles to stop and clean off windshields. Snow fell all through the mountains and as far as Oneonta. One Kingston automobilist who was compelled to make the trip to Oneonta one year ago tomorrow was caught in the snowstorm and clearly remembers snowbanks in sheltered places along the road where the winter snows had not yet melted.

At the present time there is some snow in the mountains and even along the road in the lower places snow can be seen in sheltered places where there were huge drifts during the winter.

The fact that Easter came very early this season makes it appear as though spring this year is later than it ever has been.

An entry in an old diary at The Freeman office shows that on April 20, 1888, "snow fell all day and part of the next day and had the ground and air been in the proper condition it would have made a foot." A stiff north wind accompanied the snowstorm.

Tonight and Friday evening, at St. Mary's School Hall the children of the school will present a play entitled, "Our Town Topics," a musical show replete with local happenings and events.

The young boys have been practicing very diligently for the past month for this entertainment and they expect to put across a very pleasing show. The chorus will consist of fifty young boys, who will render all the latest song hits of the day. The opening scene of the play will be in the lobby of the proposed new Van Winkle Hotel and the second scene will be the grand ballroom of the same hotel. This entertainment is something different in its make-up, not being a minstrel or a musical farce, but a combination of both and the boys, John F. Duffy, director of the show, anticipates well pleased audiences both tonight and tomorrow night.

Athletics in St. Mary's School during the past winter have been going strong, the school and the Junior Holy Name Society being represented with winning basketball squads. These athletic events have aroused much enthusiasm among the children and the grown-ups of the parish and whole-hearted support has been given them. ## SID ROSS MAY WORK SUNDAY

That is, if He Carries Out Agreement Made at Time He Signed Contract—Rube Forsythe Likely to be Judge Schirck's Choice Against Astors.

Rube Forsythe will undoubtedly be given a chance to display his wares against his former team mates, the Astors of Rhinebeck, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Kingston Fair Grounds when the visitors clash with the Colonials in the first of a series of games this season.

Whether Sid Ross, the port side twirler, will be given a chance to work against the Shamrock A. C. of the Bronx on Sunday depends largely upon whether he lives up to his agreement made at the time he signed his contract to pitch for the Colonials this season. At the time Ross affirmed his signature to the contract certain stipulations were made and unless he carries them out there is a very strong possibility that he will be dropped from the pay roll.

"Bud" Colleton will be in Kingston Sunday and ready to step in the box against the Shamrocks.

Right to Change His Mind.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, April 16.—"What difference does it make what I said in 1916. If a fellow doesn't learn something every day he must be a bonehead." This was Governor Smith's reply today to a statement made yesterday in Rochester by Speaker Macdonald of the assembly, that the governor was opposed in 1915 to the legislative budget and four-year term for governor.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, April 19.—Confident of the possession of wide and ample powers to control prices of household necessities and to prevent profiteering by speculation, the federal government struck a powerful blow at the sugar speculators today by asking the United States court at New York to put the New York Sugar and Coffee Exchange out of business for all time to come.

The government suit in equity—the preliminary move in a legal campaign to fix responsibility and impose penalties for those responsible for boosting sugar prices—was filed by District Attorney Hayward with the approval of President Harding and the cabinet.

Proceeding under the implied authority granted by the United States supreme court in declaring the grain futures trading act valid under the legislation the government charged that the sugar exchange and the sugar clearing association existed "only as a means of contracting and speculating and for the purpose of manipulating the price of raw and refined sugar" regardless of actual conditions in the country.

Such operations it was declared in the bill drawn by Acting Attorney Seymour constitute evasion of the Sherman anti-trust law in that they form a "combination and conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce."

The federal court was asked to issue a perpetual injunction against the directors of the sugar exchange which would prevent them from ever again dealing in sugar or "engaging in any plan or scheme of like character or designed or intended to establish artificial prices of sugar."

The petition also asked that the exchange be enjoined from making public any price as being the "market price" established by or observed in the transactions in sugar; and that the members be prohibited from selling sugar in New York or elsewhere unless they actually had in their possession a supply of sugar adequate to cover the transaction.

The operations of the New York exchange since February 7 were discovered by the government as an "orgy of speculation."

Enormous quantities of raw sugar, greatly in excess of the quantities customarily dealt in and more than the total stocks of raw sugar then in existence, have been the subject of fictitious or "paper" sales, it was declared.

During March 1923, transactions purported to involve the purchase and sale of raw sugar were had to the exchange to the extent of 937,900 tons, and deliveries amounted to only 1,250 tons.

These paper transactions were said to have increased the average price of refined sugar more than $2 per hundred weight.

Prompt action by the court to stop sugar dealings on the exchange was necessary, it was stated, to prevent "further unlawful maintenance and enhancement of the present abnormally high prices of raw and refined sugar" and to save the public's money.

Unless the sugar exchange is closed at once the government declared, "exorbitant prices will be extorted" from consumers and "especially in that numerous essential industries having to do with the canning and preservation of fruits and the making of confections and other food stuffs in which sugar is an essential ingredient will be completed by such abnormally high prices to largely restrict their purchases of sugar in interstate and foreign commerce and thus largely curtail production."

In announcing the institution of the civil suit in New York Attorney General Seymour intimated that criminal action against the officers of the Sugar Exchange might be the next step of the government in making certain that sugar speculation would be ended in the country.

In addition to this the department of justice will ask the New York court to annul all the paper contracts made in the sugar exchange and to prohibit any payments or settlements to be made between the parties to the contracts. According to Seymour the government holds that such procedure is justified in view of the evidence gathered against the directors of the exchange.

The decision of the United States supreme court in holding the grain futures act constitutional bears out the opinion of the department of justice officials that they have authority under the anti-trust laws to stop manipulations of sales for future delivery and to prevent the price fixing which grows out of such transactions.

William Hayward United States district attorney in filing the suit in the district court upon instructions from Washington, declared:

"We are going to make the speculators in sugar take their roulette wheel away from the American breakfast table. Every increase of a cent a pound in the price of sugar caused by these men means $2,000,000 a week to the American people. This suit is a united effort on the part of the United States officials charged with the protection of the people to stop gambling in sugar."

Now Pastor Is Located. The Rev. Robert A. Greenwell and family are now located in the Clinton Avenue M. E. parsonage on Clinton avenue, and Mr. Greenwell will have charge of the prayer meeting service this evening at the church.

A short circuit not only means diminished power but is a probable cause of fire. Ferret out a "short" as soon as you have reason to suspect one. It pays in lower battery upkeep, increased power, and may save your car from total loss by fire.

There are other common causes of fire, some of which cannot be easily detected. Even a minor blaze in your car or garage means an outlay of cash for repairs. It is wise to insure your car against such loss.

Those funny baggy little nightclothes

How much loving energy it takes to keep them sweet and clean

So little and chubby they look in them—so uncertain on their pins! How they tumble around in their efforts to walk. They seem to wipe the dirt off every step before toddling on to the next.

When they fall down they make a thorough job of rubbing dirt into their clothes before getting up.

But mothers today can keep those active little bodies sweet and clean in spotless nightclothes—they can keep them shining and fragrant in rompers and school dresses.

A wonderful new kind of soap makes even a wash of grimy little garments easy.

With this new soap—Rinso—soaking takes the place of rubbing. Its soapy suds go through every fold and thread, gently loosening all the dirt. Only spots where dirt is actually ground in—knees, neck-bands, seats of rompers and the like—will need any rubbing and these but lightly with a little dry Rinso. The old hard, harmful rubbing is banished for good.

Make your next wash easy with Rinso. It takes the place of bar soap at every step of the family wash—for soaking, boiling, and in washing machines. Just as the textile manufacturers advise Lux for fine fabrics, so leading washing machine manufacturers tell women to use Rinso in their machines.

Get Rinso today—at any grocery or department store. It comes in two sizes, the regular size and the big new package. Made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap makers in the world. Lever Bros. Co., 164 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

MAYOR REPLIES TO FIRE FIGHTERS

Poughkeepsie Mayor Says If Report of Strike by Firemen is True They Better Strike—Is Aroused by Action.

Aroused by the threatened strike of the Poughkeepsie Fire Company, Mayor George D. Campbell on Wednesday said that if any of the fire-fighting organizations of the city of Poughkeepsie wished to take issue with city officials it was entirely up to them.

When Mayor Campbell was asked about the stand taken by the Poughkeepsie Fire Company, he stated that he had not been informed officially as to what action has been taken, but only knew of the matter through what he had read in the papers.

"If the story be true that the fire company has threatened to go on a strike, the best thing that it can do is strike," said the mayor.

"When any fire company gets to know more than the city officials, it is near time that the city officials turn over their desks to them, thereby enabling the general public to benefit by their experiences."

Fifty thousand Belgians who were forcibly deported and then overworked and underfed in German factories during the war have been promised by their King that he will support their claim for ten francs (presumably gold) for every day of their enslavement. Surely justice demands that this item should be included in the reparations bill that Germany ought to be forced to pay.

The lure of the great capitals overbalances the "call of the blood," Bernard Shaw says he would accept membership in the Senate of Ireland if its government could be removed to London, and in a similar spirit Baron Rothschild long ago said that he would consent to be a citizen of a Jewish Palestine if he could be its permanent ambassador at Paris.

THE MINIMUM WAGE DECISION.

To the average, normal, unprejudiced lay mind, the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, in the minimum wage case, will appear to be sound not only in law but in common sense. Dismissing for the present the question of constitutionality upon which the court declared the minimum wage law unconstitutional, let us look at the matter from the practical standpoint.

If it is within the province of Congress to enact a law prescribing a minimum wage which must be paid to women, as this law did, then it is within the province of Congress to prescribe a minimum and a maximum wage for men. The only reasoning upon which such a law can be based is that a specified wage is necessary in order to enable the recipient to live properly. But there are two parties to a wage contract. It is the duty of Congress to say that a certain person is entitled to a specified wage, it must likewise be the duty of Congress to say that other persons should not be required to pay more than a specified wage. There is just as much injustice in exacting too high a wage as there is in paying too small a wage. If the government takes jurisdiction over the one, it must take jurisdiction over the other.

If the wage earner is entitled to an income sufficient to enable him to maintain what Congress deems a decent standard of living, other persons who are not dependent upon wages but who get their income in other forms are entitled to exactly the same protection. There are hundreds of thousands of farmers, large and small, who are not receiving a decent wage if we are to accept the standards established by those who have been conducting propaganda in behalf of what they call a "living wage." Neither Congress nor a state legislature can properly enact class legislation. If we are to have a minimum income fixed by law it must be fixed for the farmer as well as for the city worker.

THE MARTIN TALBERT CASE.

Doubtless many northerners will be surprised to learn, as they read of the Martin Talbert case, that there are whites as well as blacks among the leased convicts of the south. Martin Talbert, son of a respectable North Dakota farmer, was jailed in Florida for stealing a ride on a railroad and was leased for a term of 90 days of hard labor in a lumber camp, where he became ill and could not do the work required of him. According to the account of another white convict, Talbert was brutally used and beaten and finally collapsed and died. The North Dakota legislature called upon the Florida legislature for an investigation, and the overseer who worked the convicts, sick or well, will be prosecuted. The scandal is not likely to bring about the abolition of the system, but the investigation ought to and may lead to reform and better treatment of all persons.

The fact that there are whites among the leased convicts and the evidence that these as well as the blacks are liable to be mistreated may be accepted as refutation of the charge that the system, inevitably susceptible of gross abuse, is merely "the last stand of slavery," invented to put back into bondage all negroes convicted of petty offenses. On the subject of the white south's attitude toward the better class of negroes, Orville A. Williamson, a northern man, after four years in the black belt, writes to the New York Times as follows: "The negro in the south is respected and liked, according to his deserts, at least as fully as he is to the north. In fact, there is a more kindly feeling for him and more patience with him, for the simple reason that he is better understood here."

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?
1. Does eiderdown come from both sides of the eider ducks?
2. How many eggs does a house fly lay?
3. Do olive trees really live to be a century old?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.
1. A pot of hyacinths I had last spring is coming up and budding slowly. One bud has bloomed. Is the earth too poor? What shall I do to have a healthy plant?

Pot-grown plants from bulbs rarely can be made to bloom a second time. They do not absorb the same amount of plant food as those grown out of doors, via the leaves, and hence do not store a supply in the bulb to make next year's growth. If you save the bulbs from Easter plants, for instance, you might plant them as an experiment, out of doors, in the fall, and see if they will do anything the following spring.

2. What are jackrabbits and cottontail rabbits?
Jackrabbit is commonly applied to the large Western species of hares, particularly the Northern prairie hare, Lepus campestris. Quite large, about two feet long, does not burrow, but squats in its "form," some slightly protected place under a bush, etc. Cottontail, the common little wood rabbit, Lepus sylvaticus, short limbed, lives in a burrow.
3. What part of the world has most birds?
South America is believed to possess the greatest variety as to number of species, also in actual number of individuals. The superb forests there give protection to bird life.

Daddy's Evening Family Late

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BILLIE'S FRIENDS

Billie Brownie had gone to see a number of his friends. First of all he had paid a visit to his friend the fireman, the one who lived in a city house and who used to like to look out of the window and see what was going on.

"Billie," the fireman said, "I was so much excited this morning. One of the dogs on the block was almost very badly hurt."

"I'm going to get the Breeze Brothers to take around messages to people and ask them to think of saving lives as well as of saving minutes," said Billie Brownie.

"I'm going to ask the Breeze Brothers to tell them that a fire will get a puncture regardless of whether they are in a hurry or not and that then they have to stop, so won't they please take time to properly wait until a dog gets out of their way and be thoughtful and considerate if an animal gets excited."

"Oh, good! Billie Brownie. That will be fine. Do get the Breeze Brothers started on these messages at once."

And Billie Brownie did. He spoke to the Breeze Brothers at once and they started right off. Those to whom they were not giving the messages said to one another:

"A breeze has blown up suddenly."

Well, after Billie Brownie had called on his friend the dog and had spoken to the Breeze Brothers he called on another dog who had done a most wonderful thing.

He was a collie dog and he had been stolen and taken thirty miles away from home. But he ran away, ran through the crowded city, found his way until he reached a ferry boat across which he had been brought after he had been stolen.

He jumped on the ferry just as it was pulling out of the wharf and knew just which one to take, too, though there were ferries going in other directions which would not have been the right ones.

Then when the ferry reached the other side he was not far from home. "Really," said Billie Brownie, "you seem almost too wonderful to be real. To think of having found your way through that great city and then to have taken the right ferry boat!"

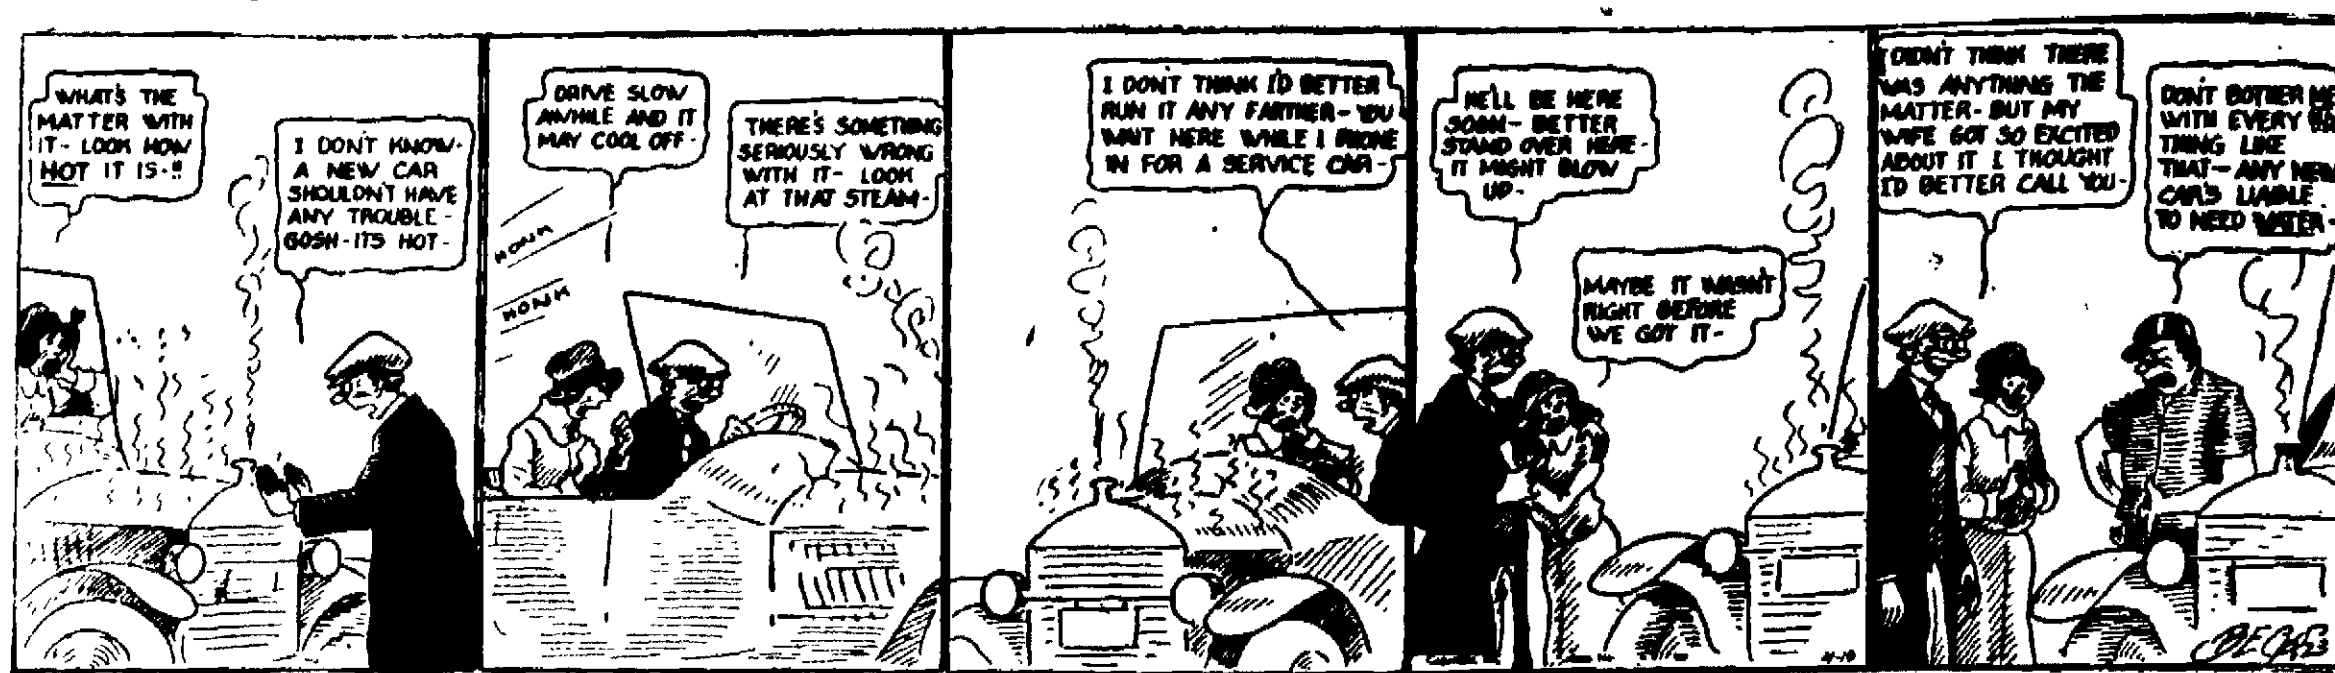

"It was because I wanted so much to get home," the collie modestly told Billie Brownie, but Billie Brownie knew that the collie was very, very wonderful and that the things he could do at most were beyond belief.

And then Billie Brownie went to see the Cat's-foot flowers which were also called Pearly Everlasting.

"Not much of a name for us," the flowers told Billie Brownie, "as soon we'll be brown instead of white and woolly as we are now. Sometimes we're called dog-toes and sometimes four-toes."

"Come don't like to eat us as we're too mealy but insects simply love us. Oh, we're very popular with insects in the late spring. And we would rather be popular with insects than with cows. Our tastes run to small things as we're not so very big ourselves!"

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

When you want a cake especially nice try the following: Candied cherries are expensive unless you have put them up yourself. Pour hot water over a pound of candied cherries, let stand a few minutes then drain and set into the oven to become dry.

Soak one-half pound of crustless bread in as much milk as it will absorb; add four beaten eggs, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of warm butter, one-fourth of a pound of boiled and grated chestnuts, and a dusting of cinnamon. When well-mixed add the cherries, pour into a buttered shallow pan, brush generously with butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, and bake slowly in a moderate oven. Serve with a cupful of hot chocolate.

Luncheon Eggs.—Wash and chop one-fourth of a pound of mushrooms; melt one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, add the mushrooms and stir until all the moisture is evaporated; add one tablespoonful of flour, blend well, then add one-half cupful of chicken stock, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, and a little pepper; let boil two minutes. Cut in halves six hard-cooked eggs, remove the yolks and mix them with the mushroom sauce. Fill the eggs with this mixture and set them into a baking dish, surround with tomato sauce and heat thoroughly. Just before serving place a fillet of cardine on each stuffed egg. Serve from the baking dish.

Sardine Salad.—Skin and bone a dozen sardines, add a cupful of mashed, hard-cooked egg yolks, two tablespoonfuls each of chopped olives and celery, a pinch of dry mustard, and lemon juice to moisten. Mix and form into balls, roll in boiled rice. Arrange around a mound of stuffed olives and serve garnished with roses of mayonnaise.

A good breakfast dish is buttered toast served with hot stewed tomatoes, seasoned well with butter, salt and pepper. The tomatoes will have a better flavor if well-cooked with the seasoning and add a little water while cooking.

VALUABLE BRAN IS NEW DIET PROBLEM

There is no longer any debate about the value of bran in the family diet. In nearly every home it has taken its place as a regulator, not to be used so much for the cure of constipation as the prevention of it.

Many people who recognize the value of bran in their diet, however, find it so unpalatable that cereal manufacturers have recently been devoting much attention to the preparation of foods which contain a sufficient quantity of bran to serve as a regulator, yet keep all of the delightful flavor of the wheat.

Bran comes from the wheat grain. It is the hull of the wheat, and approximately 25 per cent of the wheat kernel is classified as bran. For years, medical and scientific authorities have considered that the laxative value of bran is due to its roughage quality, believing that it stimulates the action of the bowels through mild irritation set up by passage of its bulk through the system.

Recently, however, evidence has been discovered that this idea may be erroneous—that bran may derive its laxative value from the potassium salts which it contains. Experiments have been made with cattle in feeding them ordinary bran, and later in feeding them bran from which the potassium had been removed chemically without breaking down the structure of the bran. This latter feed provided the same roughage and bulk content as the first feeding, but the cattle became constipated immediately.

From a dietetic standpoint, however, the most important fact is that the bran is a natural regulator which makes the habitual taking of pills and dope unnecessary.

POINT FOLKS STILL WALKING

When trolley service to Kingston Point will be resumed is a question that no one seems able to answer. The trolley service was cut out when the huge clay bank slide covered North street for a distance of 200 feet and to a depth of from ten to fifteen feet. Since then the steam shovel from Terry's Brickyard cleaned the trolley tracks and made a one-way passage through the street for traffic. Although this was completed last Saturday the trolley road is still tied up as the fallen trolley wires have not been replaced. While the trolley cars are running only to the foot of Abraya street, residents living beyond that point are forced to walk until they reach the switch on the Strand before they can get a car.

KEENEY'S THEATRE Tonight

FRIDAY-SATURDAY

Once in a decade may we hope to offer you a picture we are so certain you will truly love.

The greatest dramatic sensation of the season; a pictorialization of the famous vaudeville sketch—and later play—that Mr. Behan has played for fourteen years.

It is overwhelmingly filled with pathos, humor, tenderness—high-lighted with delicious humor—and contains a nice balance of heart interest, drama, and inimitable character acting which has made Behan's PIETRO a beloved characterization.

ASSEMBLY HAS
SMITH'S MEASURES

All Have Passed Senate—Assembly
to Kill Most of Them—Republican
Have Approved Amendment
Proposing Government Reorganization.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 19.—All of Governor Smith's legislation now has been passed in the Senate. As soon as most of the administration measures are killed in the Republican Assembly, the 1923 session of the Legislature will adjourn, probably about
May 4.

Very few of the governor's measures will receive the approval of the Republicans in the lower house. The Democratic waterpower measure, which provides for state development and control of the waterpower resources of the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers, is certain to go down to defeat in the assembly. Motion picture censorship repeal, according to the Republican leaders, will meet the same fate, probably next week.

It is possible that some sort of a compromise on transit and public utility legislation may be reached between the Republicans and Democrats. If the Democrats insist on their bills just as they stand now,
then they will be smothered to death in the assembly rules committee of which Speaker Machold is chairman.

The Republicans already have killed the governor's measures for an eight-hour day and a minimum wage for women and minors in industry. They have adopted a resolution in the assembly to have a legislative investigation of this subject. It is doubtful if the Democrats in the senate will approve of the resolution.

What is probably the most important of the governor's proposals passed by the Republicans in the assembly, is the proposed amendment to the Constitution to provide for a consolidation of the 187 state departments, and bureaus into 20 main departments; and reducing the elective state officers to governor, lieutenant governor, comptroller and attorney general. The governor compromised on this by including the attorney general, and by having the state architect under a separate department.

Once more the last fight to repeal the Mullin-Gage state prohibition law has been postponed. It will probably come up next Tuesday.
The Democratic leaders want every Democrat present before they "go to the bat" in this fight.

This year's session of the legislature will be one of the longest in years. Last year the lawmakers quit on St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

GOOD SEED,
GOOD POTATOES

Get High Yielding Certified Stock
and Then Treat It for Rhizoctonia
and Scab. Advise Experts.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 19.—The potato grower who does not take advantage of the low prices of certified seed potatoes this year is losing an opportunity to renew his stock which may not come again soon, according to the statement issued by the potato growers at the state college of agriculture.

They point out that the prevalence of disease, such as mosaic and leaf
roll, is resulting in the degeneration of potato seed stock throughout the state. While many growers are not familiar with these diseases as such,
they do realize that their seed stock
is "running out," as they say.

Bin selection will never decrease or eliminate this trouble; buying seed potatoes of known quality is the only way out. The college advocates the purchasing of only high yielding,
good type seed of some standard
rural or Green Mountain varieties which field inspection has shown to be free from the diseases mentioned.

While the buying of certified seed is reasonably safe insurance against mosaic and leaf roll, the careful grower will disinfect his seed for control of rhizoctonia and scab.

The practice of spreading seed potatoes out before they are cut and immediately after treating is likewise recommended. Seed exposed in this way for two weeks prior to planting develops stout disease-resistant sprouts; this enables growers to get rid of off-type and spindle-sprout tubers. Earliness and yield are also increased by this process.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

Blue Mountain, April 19.—The

Bridges, N. J., spent the past Tuesday evening.

ven called on Mr. and Mrs. W. E.

noon.

A Glass Roadway.

In the Yellowstone National park,
along the base of the Obsidian cliff
there is a glass road. The cliff through which the road was cut is of volcanic glass, jet black and quite opaque, with occasional streaks of red and yellow, and in the sunlight it gleams like a diamond.

SOUL
OF THE BEAST

THE "special discount" is tempting, but not when you understand who pays for it. The tire
dealer doesn't pay for it. The manufacturer cannot afford to. Chances are it comes out of the quality of the tire,
so, after all, you pay for it. None of the quality of Goodyear
Tires ever is sacrificed to "special discounts" or anything else.

As Goodyear Service Station
Dealers are all over the country, they can and back them up with standard

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 19.—Strength in the railroad and sugar stocks featured the opening of the stock market today.

Sugar stocks, which were strong in the early trading, declined from 1 to 2 points on the news that the government had filed suit to enjoin the New York Sugar Exchange from dealing in sugar. Cuban Cane preferred yielded from 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 and Punta Alegre,
after reaching a new high at 6 3/4, reacted to 6 1/2. Cuban American sugar declined from 2 1/4 to 2 1/2. High grade railroad stocks again were under accumulations by houses with foreign connections. Great Northern preferred at 76, Northern Pacific at 77 1/2 and Reading at 78, were firm and fractionally higher. Canadian Pacific yielded 2 points to 18 1/2. Du Pont lost 2 points to 14 1/2 and General Motors a fraction to 37. Oil stocks were generally steady, excepting Standard Oil of California and Pan American Petroleum, both issues showing heaviness. Declines, however, were fractional. Marland Oil rose 1 point to 53 1/4.

Stocks were dull in the afternoon trading with the trend toward somewhat lower values, especially in the oil and sugar stocks.
The market closed steady; government bonds unchanged; rye and other bonds steady.

years and enjoyed as large a personal acquaintance as any hotel keeper along the Hudson river, died at the Masonic Home at Ulster, N. Y., on Thursday, April 12, aged 85 years.
Mr. Cumming was engaged in the hotel business for fifty years and re-

of ill health. During all his residence in Coxsack, Mr. Cumming was prominently identified with the Republican party in Greene county and for several years he represented o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock where a solemn Mass of requiem was celebrated for the repose of her soul. The high esteem in which Mr. Castagne was held was silently portrayed in the numerous and beautiful floral offering, which completely banked the body in the room in which it lay, in its casket of silver, in the family home. Three large auto floral cars were required to handle the flowers in the funeral cortege, which was one of the largest to pass through the streets of the uptown section in a long time. The large church edifice of St. Joseph's Church was filled with relatives and friends who sat in silent reverence as the solemn sacrifice of the Mass was celebrated by the Very Rev. Dean Joseph G. Cushman, as celebrant, with the Rev. Eugene Duggan as deacon and the Rev. Henry Fitzgerald as sub-deacon. The Christopher Columbus Society, of which the ber, attended the funeral in a body

Castagne, Hugh O'Neil, James Buck, Anthony Gentile, John Albany and Frank Ferraro. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in St.
Mary's Cemetery, where the Rev.
Fathers Duggan and Fitzgerald conducted the committal services.

Such a Perfect Little Lady.
One day a girl friend of mine stumbled and fell over a pair of large rubbers standing in the dark hall as she came in from the outside, which caused an angry outburst as follows:
"Who's the d— idiot that left them in the middle of the floor, I'd like to know?"
Out of the parlor stepped their mistress, saying, "I beg your pardon, so thoughtless of me."
We was calling on her folks, which,
of course, she did not know. You can imagine how she felt, especially as she knew that he had always thought her such a perfect little lady.—Exchange.

WHEN your foot bends naturally, easily and gracefully, how much more joy you get out of walking.
When your shoe is soft and pliant with no stiffness about the arch—how much better you feel after walking.
In good-looking Cantilever Shoes you can know this buoyant ease and bodily comfort. The flexible arch of the shoe bends with the flexible arch of the natural foot, permitting that freedom of movement which adds so much to graceful walking.
The snug-fitting heel and firm "glove-like" quarter hug the under curve of the foot in natural restful support and prevent gaping at the top.
Come in and look over the excellent workmanship of the Cantilever Shoe. See how smart it looks. Feel how splendidly it fits—and how easily it bends with your foot.

PLAYERS FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

Dahn, T. pening, lf..... Start Dahn, T. pening, lf..... Mullaney
Selwabs ..... cf..... Havens, Russell
Robbins ..... rf..... Mosher
Forsythe ..... p..... Beecher

The above is the probable lineup of the Colonials and Astors when they take the field on Saturday to engage in what promises to be the game of games of the early season.

As Hudson Valley baseball stands now it looks as though the Buckley-Schatz combination will be the likely contenders along with the Colonials for championship honors. The team which is listed above is representing Rhinebeck it cannot be denied is a strong team both on the offensive and defensive. That Beecher is a good pitcher was demonstrated conclusively to the fans last season and he says that he is in far better shape this year than last. The infield is one which has been accustomed to working together and every man listed is fast and entirely capable of holding down his bat.

As far as the Colonials are concerned it looks as though Forsythe was going to start the engagement for them in the pitcher's box. Dahn will very likely be on hand and will hold down either the left or center field berth. Benny Borgman will also be here and will no doubt try hard to make it five hits out of five times at bat.

"BIG BUN" IS NOW "BIG BAM"

Ruth's Four-Base Sack With Two on Base, Hope of Fans That He Will Get the Habit.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 19.—Home run hitting being nothing more than a habit, such as check raising and washing behind ears, the sock to which the Hon. Babe Ruth created himself yesterday may go a long way toward confirming him as a hopeless addict. Before he made the hit in question, Ruth was just a ballplayer who had come to the point where he had over emphasized the ability of the opposing pitcher and deprecatd his own.

At the plate, he larked judgment, poise and the old, easy confidence inspired by the belief that he held all the aces. He needed that smash in the stands to bring him back to himself and he got it at a time when he devoutly wanted it more than he will ever want anything again. He was on trial at the opening of a new stadium of the nearly 75,000 persons, the largest crowd by many thousands that ever witnessed a ball game, and to him the distinction of hitting the first home run was priceless not only in the honor involved but as a matter of future effect.

Ruth has re-experienced the tingle of hitting one full on the frontispiece. He knows he can do it again. He now has the complex.

Add to this the conclusive fact that the drive was made off a slow curve such as those with which the Giant pitchers fooled him so completely during successive world's series and would have gone into the stands in any park in America and the full measure of the hit's importance is realized.

Inspired by his renewed confidence in himself, Ruth may break into an orgy of home runs, starting immediately. He has the satisfying knowledge that in his record breaking years of 1920 and 1921, he failed to get going with the opening game. Indeed, he hit no home runs at all in April of 1920 and for a time was regarded as a terrible mistake. But when he started the result was an avalanche. And there you have an example of what the habit will do. He only needed the first one.

The following year he was off to a more promising start, crashing one out of the park on April 16 and getting five, all told, for the month. Those five were the precise number which he topped his 1920 record of fifty-four, showing that Ruth is or was really a slugger of rare consistency.

He was suspended for six weeks of the 1922 season, got away to an indifferent start, drew several more suspensions, finally hit thirty-five homers, batted .125 in the World Series and was adjudged a monumental "bust."
